TO THE WEST! TO THE WEST!

Before making your arrangements to follow the advice of the "thousands who have already gone," it would be well to consider what has been done to make the journey to your "Homes in the West" as pleasant and free from danger as human skill and foresight can accomplish.

By consolidation and construction, a road has been put into operation on the shortest possible line from Nashville, Tenn., to St. Louis, "the future great City of the world." This line, the has, during the past year, earned an enviable reputation by its smooth track, prompt time, sure connections, and the magnificence of its passenger equipment. Its trains are made up of new and commodious day cars, provided with the celebrated Miller coupler and platform, and the Westinghouse air-brake.

It is possitively the only line running Pullman Palace Drawing-Room Sleepin Cars through without change from Nashville to St. Louis. No other line pretend to offer such advantages, either in distance, time, or equipment. Why, then, journey by circuitous routes? Do not be induced to purchase tickets to St. Louis or the West by any other line, remember that

The "St. Louis & Southeastern" is the shortest, cheapest, quickest, best and only line under one management from Nashville to St. Louis, and is from 60 to 200 miles the shortest to St. Louis, Kansas City, Omaha, Denver, California, Texas, and all western points. It is also the "Chicago Shortest Line," via Evansville.

You can secure the cheapest rates for yourselves and your movables on application, in person or by letter, to CHARLES McCABE, Southern Passenger Agent, near College street Depot, Nashville, Tenn., or to the undersigned.

The Panic.

The New York Times, of the 19th, has the following on the situation:

There has been no day in Wall street to be compared with yesterday since the suspension of the banks in 1857.—The celebrated troubles of "Black Friday" arose out of a gold-corner, and brought down many firms, but the disaster was not so great as that which we are called upon to record to-day. It is easy enough to be wise after the event, and the houses which have failed doubtless appreciate more clearly than outsiders can do, the mistakes which they have made. We pointed out yesterday that the general business of the country was never in a sounder condition than it is to-day. There was nothing in that to lead to a panic. We have seldom entered upon a Fall season under more promising circumstances. Yet, at the very beginning of it, some of our best known banking firms topple over like houses of cards. People who are not in the habit of watching commercial affairs very closely, may well wonder what it is all about? When the reason comes to be explained, it is not calculated to reassure any of us with regard to the position of some enterprises in which a very large amount of capital has been invested.

The banks have been departing from their legitimate line of business. There has been a railroad mania, and the banks have lent large sums of money on railroad bonds, to the exclusion of the merchants. If these banks had confined themselves to the transactions which come properly within their scope, we should have seen no trouble in Wall street this week. They have practically gone into the business of contractors, brokers, and speculators. The projectors of all sorts of new roads have absorbed the capital which rightfully belongs to the legitimate trade of the country. Last year over 6,000 miles of new railroads were built, not 500 miles of which were really needed, or can be turned to any profitable use. The foreign markets have been glutted with these schemes. Many gross swindles of one kind or other have been foisted upon these markets during the last two or three years. At last, confidence has been broken down. For some years to come, nothing but a first mortgage bond will find ready acceptance. Many of our bankers accumulated railroad bonds in the expectation that they would be taken in Europe. They supposed they would get a commission, and with this they proposed to retire from the scene. But the foreign markets suddenly failed to take the bonds offered to them. For the present they have had enough. The investments submitted to them of late years have not paid. A great deal of capital has been sent over here for which no return whatever has been made. The public would be surprised if they knew how many "wild-cat" schemes have been placed upon the markets in London or Frankfort with temporary success. Now the reaction has come, and we are suffering the consequences of a loss of confidence in one important branch of our national enterprises.

The great thing now is not to point a moral, but to avert, if possible, a continuance of the misfortunes of the past two days. Of course, the first impulse of everybody in difficulties is to look to the government for help. It is quite clear, however, that the Treasury cannot play the part of a deus ex machina whenever overspeculation, or imprudent loans, involve commercial houses in difficulty. If it were possible for the Secretary of the Treasury to check the course of the panic, without exceeding the proper limits of his functions, it would no doubt be desirable for him to act without delay. But it is very difficult to suggest any course likely to be effectual, which he could safely take.—The first thing needed is confidence. Can the government restore that? We do not see that it can. Our business men must, under any circumstances, assist each other to tide over their present difficulties. It is the scare which is knocking down good firms, like so many children's toys. The worst would be over before eleven o'clock this morning if people in the street would give up chasing each other like a pack of frightened sheep. Give time; let forbearance be extended to firms "reported" to be in difficulties. This is hard advice to give in the midst of a panic, but unless it is followed there is no knowing where this sudden storm will end. The very men who help to increase the general distrust may be the first to suffer by it. Let us try to get over to-day without fresh failures, and by Monday the air will be much clearer, and we have no doubt that some of the firms which have already suspended will be able to see their way out of their difficulties. Fisk & Hatch and Jay Cooke & Co. will, apparently, be able to meet their liabilities. Hours are more precious than gold at a time like the present. There is not the slightest necessity for public alarm. People need not run to savings banks to take their money out—this scare does not affect banks which have avoided plunging into rash speculations. But if there is to be a blind rush at every banking house, and a sudden call on every large firm, there is no telling where the disaster may end. In two days, if a little patience is shown, the business of the street will resume its usual course. Is there not common sense enough left in creditors to lead them to protect their own interests, by abstaining from encouraging the present tendency to bring everything to the ground?

Habeas Corpus.

The case of Gurganus, charged with being the accomplice of Malpass, in the killing of young Walker, in Columbia township, recently, was heard by Judge Russell Saturday night, on the motion of E. B. Sanders, Esq. Our reporter was on the spot, and took full notes of the testimony, but as it differs but little from the report already published, it is unnecessary to reproduce it. Gurganus was released on one thousand dollars bail by his Honor. This is a most righteous decision, as no man who will listen to the testimony can deny. The evidence discloses that Gurganus was intoxicated at the time, and after the homicide, he himself got into a difficulty with Malpass, and got knocked down. We do not see, after a careful examination into the facts, how the Coroner's Jury could have found him an accomplice. There was no malice aforethought shown by any of the men, and if Malpass had not foolishly run away, he need have feared nothing, as his punishment must of necessity be light. No sane jury could find either man guilty of murder.

What a Fall.

The Fredericksburg Herald states that a farm on the Mattaponi river was recently knocked down at $6 50 per acre which was sold before the war at $60. Is this real estate? Or have the reconstruction measures of the Republican party destroyed the nature of land and made it unreal—as fleeting and fanciful in value as any of the bubbles that have been invented?

Commenting on the above the Wilmington Journal says:

We take the above from one of our exchanges, but it accords so much with our own experience that we find no difficulty in believing the statement of our Fredericksburg cotemporary. The rice lands of the Cape Fear would readily sell, before the war, for one hundred dollars per acre, now they will not command a tenth part of that sum. Then there were no sellers at any price, now there are no buyers at any price. And yet these lands are as capable of production to-day as they were before the war. But we forget. The difference is one of the blessings of Reconstruction.

Will the Journal please tell us how much these rice lands were worth after the surrender and before "reconstruction?" Our neighbor should go a short distance further and say that these lands could not be purchased at one hundred dollars an acre before the South went into its insane scheme of secession. They have never been very valuable since. Even during the war, cultivation was lessening and now but little rice is grown. But it's all the same to the Democrats; they have got a new charge against "reconstruction" and are happy to air it—but it is humbug all the same.

EDITORIAL BUDGET.

—The steamer Arctic brought to Dundee ten members of the Polaris expedition, whose names are as follows: Buddington, sailing master; Bessels, chief of scientific corps; Chester, first mate; Morton, second mate; Ichumann, chief engineer; Odell, second engineer; Campbell, fireman; Simms, Hobby and Hayes, seamen, all in excellent health. Three others were transferred by the Ravenscraig to the ship Intrepid, which is expected at Dundee in two or three weeks. Their names are Bryan, astronomer, chaplain; Mauch, seaman, and J. W. Booth, fireman. The rescued party report that after their separation from Tyson and his companions the Polaris was finally abandoned in a sinking condition by Captain Buddington and the remainder of the expedition. The party wintered in Life-boat cove, where they built a timber house, which they covered with sails. The winter passed without event, except the breaking out of scurvy, which, however, was unattended by severe symptoms. Plentiful supplies of walrus liver for food were obtained from the natives, and to this diet is attributed the mildness of the disease. In the spring, two boats were built of thin pine boards taken from the cabin of the Polaris. In them the whole party embarked as soon as the ice opened, and sailed southward. On the 3d of June they sighted Cape York, and on the 22d they were picked up by the Ravenscraig. Mr. Chester, the first mate, is regarded as the one who did most to save the party, and the rescued men speak in the highest terms of his exertions. They also say that Captain Hall enjoyed the confidence of every one, and his death, which was unexpected, was deplored by the entire crew. The Polaris drifted into Life-boat cove and was beached there with great difficulty. The Esquimaux assisted in bringing provisions from the wreck and readily sold skins and clothing to the men. While the boat building was going on, the thermometer frequently marked twenty-three degrees below zero. During the voyage southward ice was encountered off Northumberland island and a delay of three days caused.

MR. VAN ORSDELL, advertises a fine milch cow for sale.

MR. D. EIGENBRUM, who formerly resided in our city, and who is known by most of our older citizens, has come amongst us again to teach the young idea how to "drive a quill through a set of books," and give instruction in German and other modern languages.

TO-DAY has been one of our delightful, sunny Fall days, comfortable inside the house, and outdoors cheering to everybody. Workmen are redoubling their efforts to finish their various tasks by the first of October, which is very near at hand, and nature is certainly doing all in her power to assist. Fall styles, new buildings, new goods, new clothes, all for old familiar faces! What a renovation we are all destined to undergo.

ACCIDENT.—This morning, about six o'clock, while the material train was at Maxwell's, on the W., C. & A. R. R., and while in the act of backing off the switch on to the main track, one of the train hands named George was seriously injured. He was trying to jump on the train while it was in motion; missing his footing he fell between the car and the tender, the latter running over his foot, cutting off his toes and mashing the foot so badly that it is supposed that it will have to be amputated.

HEBREW NEW YEAR.—Yesterday, Rosh Hashono, begun the Hebrew New Year, according to the Jewish calendar the first day of the year, 5,634. In Hebrew Rosh means the head or commencement, and Hashono, which is the noun and article combined, meaning the year; thus the first day of the year. According to the ancient faith, 5,634 years ago, the world was made, and order was born out of chaos. It is the first day of the month, Tisri. During this month there are many important holidays, the days of repentance, days of atonement, the feasts of Tabernacles and the rejoicings over the land. The day is being strictly observed by those of our citizens of the Hebrew faith.

Magistrates' Courts.

'Squire Moore disposed of the following cases:

G. McNeill, charged with assault and battery against William Marsteller, was required to pay $2 fine and cost.

Edward Thomas, for a like charge against William Marsteller, was discharged on the payment of cost.

Wm. Marsteller, charged with an assault upon George McDuffie, was discharged on the payment of cost.

Before Squire HARRISS,—Sandy Stewart, charged with burglary, was committed to jail until the next term of the Superior Court.

Nelson Jackson, charged with larceny, was discharged, the evidence not being deemed sufficient to warrant his confinement.

'Squire GARDENER adjudicated the case of Lawyer Dockray, charged with larceny. Lawyer was committed to jail in default of $100 bond.

Last week about Weldon was sunny, warm and sickly.

The lamented Avon E. Hall, formerly of Wilmington, who died a few weeks ago, was prudent enough to insure his life for five thousand dollars. The POST is pleased to notice the fact of the payment of the above named amount to the widow of the deceased. The insurance was effected through the agency of Major P. M. Taylor of this city.

THE TOWN CRIER.

— Coolish.

— Pave the streets.

— Dr. King returned.

— Make your taxes be paid.

— Churches well filled yesterday.

— Columbus County Court commences to-day.

— Thanks for the cluster of yellow jasmine laid on our desk.

— The city is becoming beautifully pictured with Great Eastern Circus bills.

— Our Associate, Justice Cassidey, has sailed to Raleigh. We hope the many editors there will have a watchful eye over him, that he gets into no kind of danger.

YESTERDAY was cool and delightful, and the increased attendance at Church proved that our wanderers are fast returning. Dr. Watson officiated at St. James', Mr. Patterson at St. John's, and Mr. Ambler at St. Paul's, as usual. Dr. Plumer preached in the Presbyterian Lecture Room. Dr. Bernheim preached in St. Paul's Lutheran Church. There was no Baptist service, except Sabbath School. The services were as usual at St. Thomas' Church. Dr. Moran preached at the Front Street Methodist. The time for evening services has been changed in most of the Churches.—Those meeting at 8 now meet at 7:30, and those meeting at 8:15 now meet at 8 o'clock.

Mayor's Court.

His Honor W. P. CANADAY, Mayor, presiding.

The case of a person charged with selling liquor on Sunday was continued until Tuesday.

William Parker, charged with disorderly conduct and fighting, was continued until to-morrow.

Thos. Perry and Henry Price, charged with disorderly conduct on the street, were fined $10 and costs.

Antonio Lawrence, charged with disorderly conduct, was found not guilty, and dismissed.

Richard Crafford, charged with disorderly conduct, was fined $10 and costs. Collection of fine suspended for the present.

J. Werks, charged with disorderly conduct, was continued.

"MECHANICS' AND WORKINGMEN'S JOURNAL, N. C."—This new paper, Volume 1, No. 1, is before us. It is a handsomely printed seven column weekly, published at Raleigh, and as its name imports, in the interests of workingmen. No names appear on the paper, so we do not know the name of its editor.—The following is a brief extract from its leader:

A company has been formed, mainly of workingmen, for the publication of a weekly paper, in the city of Raleigh, to be styled The Mechanics' and Workingmens' Journal.

The object of The Journal, in general, will be to forward the interest of that class of citizens who labor for their bread, whether as manual laborers merely, or as skilled workmen.

It will advocate the organization of associations among the different laboring classes, not for aggressive purposes, but as a measure of self-protection, and for their advancement in moral and intellectual culture.

The following is what it has to say in relation to politics:

It will be the organ of no political party, nor will it be a partizan journal. It will, however, have definite views on questions of public policy, so far as they concern the interests of the laboring classes, and will express them; and when called upon, will discuss questions of State policy in a spirit of fairness and truth.

Terms $2 per annum.

Saturday Night Sketches.

It is almost cold to-night. Many overcoats are seen covering the shoulders of delicate young men, and even the stars seem to shiver as they sparkle in the cold blue sky. Trafficing is hastily done, and but little discussion over prices, for marketmen are anxious to sell and buyers are equally persistent. Everybody wants to be home out of the cool air. Many foolish men, imagining that whiskey will take the place of warm clothing, have imbibed so industriously that they have become intoxicated, and, as a consequence, noisy. One little group is gathered in the street, looking carefully over the ground, by the aid of a small piece of lighted candle, for some lost treasure. "What are you looking for, boys?" asks a curious bystander. "Oh, I drapped a quarter right down here, and I can't find it. I'm 'fraid my mammy will lick me when I go home," replied a sniveling urchin on "all fours," gazing intently upon the ground. But the money wouldn't find, and the strong wind blows the candle out, and the sorrowing bankrupt slowly wends his way toward home. What is Jay Cooke's failure to him? What cares he for the stringency in the money market, and the fact that our banks stopped discounting? That quarter is all in all to him, and there is no sympathetic soul at hand to relieve his distress. Let us hope that his "mammy" is more lenient than he expects, and that she will take into consideration the unsettled state of the money market, and grant the little chap an extension. We have always sympathized more with the man who was suffering for a dollar than with one who desired a thousand, for the latter, in times like the present, can plead the scarcity of funds, and backward crops, and blight, and worm, and high water and many other offsets and excuses which are not available to the former. So we condole with our little bankrupt to-night, and if we were not really short just twenty-five cents, would back him to that amount, that his little heart might be glad. But alas! what can a poor reporter do toward relieving the distresses of his fellow-man? Not much.

Gathered in one of the rooms at the Court House, are the officers of the law. An unfortunate man has been incarcerated in jail to answer the terrible charge of murder, and, conscious of his innocence, he appeals to the Judge, who holds the power, to be released on bail. That great boon to freemen, the writ of habeas corpus, is brought into requisition, and the witnesses are called to testify again about the tragedy. And the unhappy man hears that he was drunk and insulting—too drunk even to stand straight—but it helps him this time, and his Honor releases him on one thousand dollars bail, which is furnished, and he goes out under the stars, and once more breathes the pure air of freedom. How brightly they must have twinkled to him, as the relief that there are so many extenuating circumstances in his case, point to his almost certain acquittal when he appears before a jury. The lesson, we hope, will prove salutary, and that henceforth not a drop of intoxicating liquor will ever pass his lips, that he may again become a useful member of society.

The dry goods clerks are handling over their Fall goods and the stores are crowded with people. Homespun goes off almost by the piece as dress after dress is sold, and at eleven o'clock, when the carts have all disappeared, and but few people are seen on the streets, the tumbled goods are restored upon the shelves and preparations are made for closing the stores. Clerks have hard times, but they don't seem to despair. They are all cheerful to-night, though they know they will be worked nearly to death during the next few weeks, but, like Barkis, they "are willing." Many merchants who have been North to purchase goods, have returned, and as business slackens, they dilate upon the magnificent stocks to come by first steamers, and tell of the scenes in far off places. And the hours fly by and the night goes out as shivering mortality carefully tucks the blankets close, and gentle sleep lightly touches their eyelids.

STATE ITEMS.

The tobacco growers in the upper or western portions of this State are about ready to "cut" their tobacco.

There was a jail delivery of a dozen pining captives from the Madison county jail on Monday of last week.

The Governor has appointed Cyrus R. Lantz of Lebanon, Pa., Commissioner of Deeds for North Carolina.

Guilford county sent a recruit to the Penitentiary, a colored man, convicted of a murderous attempt to take the life of his wife.

The Fair Grounds at Charlotte are all in good order and ready and waiting for the Fair that is to come off there on November 25th next.

Charlotte, not to be outdone by Madison county, also had a jail delivery on last Wednesday night, and three weary waiters that had been tarrying there took French leave.

The Asheville Expositor wants soap gourds tied to the sixteen hundred dogs' tails that wag behind as many barking curs that infest that place. Anything for a lively time.

The New-Berne Republic-Courier is informed by a medical gentleman that within two squares in the Second Ward of that city, twelve babies were born between the hours of six o'clock p. m. last Sunday and six o'clock a. m. Monday morning.

GRAPHICALITIES.

The Rev. Jacob Creath, of Carthage, Ill., thinks funeral sermons a superfluity. It is true most people would rather dispense with them.

The ex-Queen of Spain is going to reside for the winter at Boulogne-sur-Mer, France, because she would be lonesomer anywhere else.

Daniel Drew draws eight dollars a month as pension from participation in the war of 1812. But what Drew draws he gives away in charity.

William Perkins, a new basso, is to sing in London. The critics say that there may be something in his voice, but there will have to be less of the common-place in his name.

LATEST BY TELEGRAPH,

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, September 22.

It is officially announced that Secretary Richardson will continue to buy bonds at Saturday's quotations. Secretary Richardson said last night he did not see that he had the power to do more than buy bonds, and all the five-twenties offered will be bought without the delays of red tape. The Government, the Secretary added, "is not a trust company or loan institution, and it is doubtful whether Congress would sanction any such construction of my power."

The above alludes to the using of the forty million reserves.

Thirty Savings Banks have resolved to rigidly enforce the previous notice clause.

James Martin, of Bloomfield, N. J., was found dead on the streets of Jersey City. He had a large amount of money.

The Union Trust Company is in the hands of a Receiver.

The New York Stock Exchange remains closed to-day.

The manager of the clearing house says every check passed through the clearing will be paid. He says the banks are in no danger, and were never stronger.

Marvin Bros. have suspended.

All the banks have pulled through except two. The two settling through the Loan Committee.

All the Savings Banks have been runned.

The Clearing House Committee has issued one and a half million certified checks.

The government bought one million bonds. Large crowds are waiting to sell. Montreal and Europe are buying stocks at the shrinkage.

The gold Exchange has closed; 112 has been established as a basis for the settlement. Rate of interest is fixed for carrying 7 per cent. The sub-treasury is buying 5-20's at 110 73-100.

A run has commenced on the Seaman's Bank they pay sums of $100 and under, larger sums must wait the laws of delay.

An American steamer at New Foundland reports a collision with a fisherman. Three of the crew of fifteen were saved.

The betting is two and three to one on Brown for to-morrow's boat race at Halifax.

In the course of the morning, the President called at the Treasury Department and had a conference with Secretary Richardson. The result of it may be inferred from the fact that subsequently the Secretary stated to the agent of the New York Associated Press that the President will do anything within the law, but in no particular go beyond the clear legal authority. He will maintain the safety of the Treasury Department, and protect the credit of the United States from the influences of the present financial embarrassment.
